

ASRS

American Society of Retina Specialists

Heather Renée Adams, JD

Heather Renée Adams is a graduate of DePaul University College of Law and a trusted adviser to employers across a wide range of commercial and employment litigation matters. She has extensive experience representing clients before civil rights and fair employment agencies and commissions nationwide.

Drawing on her broad industry experience, Heather offers strategic counseling on developments in labor and employment law, litigation best practices, and effective workplace solutions. She also provides training and presentations to help employers navigate emerging legal trends and mitigate risk.