Sara Barbatano

Sara Barbatano serves as COO at Retina Consultants of Texas, where she leads strategic operations, organizational communication, marketing, and growth initiatives for one of the nation's largest retina practices. She works closely with physicians and leaders to strengthen practice culture, improve operational efficiency, and support sustainable clinical environments that prioritize both patient access and physician wellbeing.

With an education in journalism and experience in entrepreneurship, Sara brings a communication-centered leadership approach focused on transparency, collaboration, and organizational health.
