Caroline J. Patterson, Esq.

Member and Vice Chair of Healthcare Law, Brach Eichler

Caroline Patterson brings more than 25 years of legal experience to her work representing health care practices and industry professionals in complex transactional, corporate, and regulatory matters. A highly regarded healthcare and business attorney, she is known for her sound judgment, responsiveness, and creative approach to advancing her clients' legal and business objectives. Her practice spans a broad range of healthcare matters, including mergers and acquisitions, sales, strategic partnerships, joint ventures, private equity investments, HIPAA compliance, fraud and abuse laws, ownership and compensation arrangements, and employment negotiations, as well as clinical trial agreements and clinical research law.

Her clients include physician practices, hospitals, health systems, management service organizations, life science and healthcare consulting companies, dental practices, physical therapists, ambulatory care facilities and individual healthcare professionals. Caroline is a frequent lecturer and contributor to the American Academy of Ophthalmology and the American Society of Retina Specialists on advanced healthcare legal issues, and she is a regular contributor to Brach Eichler's monthly Health Law Update.
