

ASRS

American Society of Retina Specialists

Rhonda Tipton

Rhonda Tipton is a senior healthcare operations executive currently serving as Executive Director of Retina Associates of Kentucky, where she has entered her third year in the role. She partners closely with physician leaders and management services organizations to build scalable, high-performing operations that expand access to care and navigate complex clinical environments.

Rhonda brings extensive experience supporting multi-site as well as both single and multi-specialty physician practices across both private equity-backed platforms and independently owned organizations. Her expertise includes practice integration, operational design, service-line expansion, and change management.

In addition to her provider-side leadership, Rhonda has an extensive background in the medical device sector, wholesale and retail pharmaceutical distribution, and executive leadership spanning general management, product and service line development, along with sales, and marketing. This diverse experience allows her to align clinical excellence with disciplined business operations and growth strategies.

Known for her collaborative, execution-focused leadership style, Rhonda is committed to building durable organizations through strong physician partnerships, operational rigor, and strategic growth initiatives.